Sherry Young is a gospel flautist with formal music training. Young was inspired to learn music at a young age. Young's mother promoted music studies for her children, piano lessons starting for Young at age nine. Young went on to pick up the flute in elementary school and high school, going on to become principal flutist in her high school band.

After obtaining a nursing degree, Young performed a classical flute selection in a local talent show. A musician from eleven time Grammy award winning, legendary Al Green's band was in attendance. After hearing the performance, Young was offered a position in the band. The offer was not taken as Young had plans to continue on in the nursing field.

Young continued to play the flute, going on to give her talents to the body of Christ in her local church. Young credits her Pastors for allowing her opportunities to play in services and conferences. Young went on to play principal flute for the International Church of God in Christ Orchestra for over twenty years. During the early to mid 2000's, Young was a featured spotlight artist during legendary multiple Grammy award winning recording artist and Evangelist, Dr. Dorinda Clark Cole's annual singer and musicians conference.

Young also had a thriving flute studio at at a ballet/music school where she gave private lessons. Young credits her flute success to private flute teacher, Dr. Penelope Fischer and Dr. Julie Stone, both flute professors at Eastern Michigan University.
